

30 Years of the Talking Heads :: More Songs About Buildings & Food

A celebration of music, architecture and video - conceived for the courtyard of the Inland Steel Building (30 W. Monroe)

Proposal for Looptopia '08

The facade of the Inland Steel Building holds a wall of windows that stretches 16 feet high and 80 feet wide. Lightweight fabric, cut and strung the length of the facade provides a massive screen for multiple projectors placed within the lobby. The lit overhang provides protection from the elements and enough light to play at any hour of the night.
